

COYOTE LOUD PROUD SPIRIT

Over Winter Break, on Dec. 22, 2012, the Coyote Cheer Club performed at the Maaco Las Vegas Bowl during half time at Sam Boyd Stadium. Varsity Cheer Captain Reegan Gunter lead them through the process from practice to performance.

"I think it's funny how we got to perform in front of hundreds of thousands of people, before performing at our school, but it was really fun," Abigail Calvelo ('15) said.

The Cheer Club finally formed after Mrs. Sheilah Petrosky and Ms. Cindi Chang agreed to advise the club. This performance was the first official outing for the club.

"My experience at the Maaco Bowl was really fun and amazing! I will totally do it again the next time I have the chance," Tatyana Kennedy ('16) said.

1. Coyotes for life. Performing in front of thousands of people at the Sam Boyd Stadium, Victoria Ortega Delliponti ('16) and Morgan Calder ('16) cheer on and represent their school to the fullest. 2. We are number one. Kicking as high as they can, Rachel Kimmich ('16) Mya Constantino ('15) and Reegan Gunter ('13) show their hardwork and dedication to their cheer club on the football field. "They learn discipline, dedication, team work, and school spirit. They have worked so hard and come a long way in such a short time," Gunter said.

#VARSITYWINNING

I play football for Sierra Vista high school. I have been playing since my freshman year. I am on the offensive and defensive line, and I love playing because whenever I hit the other player hard, I feel superior to them. I also like playing on the varsity team because my teammates are funny and they always have my back. My favorite memory is playing a game against Bishop Gorman's football team in my freshman year; it was one of the closest games I've ever played. We lost with six points and Gorman had thirteen, but I had the most fun I'd ever had playing against them."

1. Say freeze. After getting off their sled, senior April Bitanga enjoys the winter snow at Mt. Charleston with her boyfriend, Jerome Santos. "I did not like having to go to the mountains to see snow, but once we got there, I had so much fun," Bitanga said. 2. Ready, set, go. Juan Duarte ('16) prepares himself to charge into a pile of snow upon arrival at Mt. Charleston. 3. Staying Warm. Preparing a sweet snack, Pariss Kitashima ('13) begins to assemble her smore to put over the fire. She roasted both marshmallows and hot dogs. "I burnt my finger," Kitashima said.

SANTA IS COMING TO TOWN

1. Imposter. Trying to prove that he is a better Santa Claus, Entertainment Engineering Program Teacher Mr. Angelo Pappalardo compares himself to Raphael Peret ('14). 2. No coal. Trying to get on Santa's nice list, Tina Tsoi, Tamara Tindugan, and Matthew Fong take a picture with Santa at the Venetian Hotel and Casino. "I asked Santa for a puppy for Christmas, but I didn't get one," Tsoi said.

EXPLORING DISNEY

1. Nom nom nom. Excited to try the famous giant turkey leg, Marina Triplett ('13) celebrated her eighteenth birthday at the happiest place on earth. "My 18th birthday was perfect. Disneyland is one of my favorite places and I got to spend it with two of my best friends," Triplett said. 2. Hold tight! Riding the iconic Mickey's Fun Wheel, Alysia Sutton and Katelyn Hendricks ('13) have fun as they slide back and forth. "Spending time with friends at Disneyland will definitely be one of the greatest memories of my senior year," said Sutton. 3. All aboard. While waiting to board the Mark Twain Riverboat, Disney character Woody from Toy Story greeted Jessica Wolf ('13). 4. #OnlyatDisney. After having fun on the rides at Disney, Judy Chau ('13) takes a break and takes a bite out of her giant turkey leg.

WHAT HOLIDAY DO YOU CELEBRATE?

100 SWCTA students surveyed

A perfect beginning. Holding his new addition to the family, Ricardo Reyes ('14) greets Asher Reyes to the family. "He's so big and cute, I'm happy to have him in the family," Reyes said.

NEW YEAR'S BABY

#INSTAGOOD

1. Starbucks fix. Cruising around the city, Mikayla Marrojo ('13) posted on Instagram a selfie enjoying a cup of coffee from Starbucks. 2. InstaFun. Instead of stressing school, Lei Mai and Sarah Buco ('13) had fun drawing on each other and displayed their art on Buco's Instagram. 3. Loving the crew. Shopping at Town Square, Christian Ethan Arenasada, Justin Andoy, and Kyle Dalope ('13) take a group picture by the Christmas tree in the park.

FUN, GAMES, AND SNOW PLAY

1. High in the sky. Elaine Wong ('13) awaits her turn to go down the hill on the ski lift. She went snowboarding at Lee Canyon with her family. "Even though I can somewhat snowboard, I felt like a newbie because I was the only one in protective gear and everyone else was just in their sweaters," Wong said. 2. New Glider. Keeping balance, Sheila Diezmo ('13) learns how to snowboard. It was her first time snowboarding with her family and her boyfriend in California.

WINTER IN ANOTHER LAND

Hot winter. Enjoying the beach, sophomore June Santos traveled to the Philippines to spend the holidays with his family. "Instead of snow, I had white sand. It felt like flour, it was so soft!" Santos said.
